Working together to end violence against women and girls

About Perth & Kinross Violence Against Women Partnership

The Perth & Kinross Violence against Women Partnership (PKVAWP) is a multi-agency partnership which co-ordinates and supports professionals from voluntary and statutory agencies tackle a range of issues, including domestic abuse, prostitution, human trafficking, rape and sexual assault.

Violence against women is widespread affecting women of any age, class, race, religion, sexuality or ability. Women are most at risk from men they know. When asked, significant numbers of women describe patterns of abusive behaviour and repeat victimisation, rather than discrete assaults. Women experience violence at different points in their lives and significant numbers of women experience more than one type of violence.

Message from our chair

Hello! This is my second year as chairperson of the Perth and Kinross Violence Against Women Partnership and I am delighted to have this opportunity to introduce you to our work, and that of some of our members, through this new style annual report. This has been another very busy year for our Partnership through which, with the commitment and support of our various members, we have continued to work to implement the aims and ambitions laid out in the Scottish Government's 'Equally Safe' Strategy.

The purpose of the Partnership is to add value to the crucial work of our members who provide and deliver a broad range of services to women, girls and children who are experiencing, or who have experienced domestic abuse or sexual violence. We do this by organising promotional events, supporting training, offering staff development opportunities and, most importantly, supporting and assisting members in obtaining funding and resources. Through this report, we have attempted to give a flavour of some of the prevention and support activities taking place in Perth & Kinross and where to go for help and support.

Lex Greig, Chairperson

Lex is a social worker and is currently a Team Leader in Criminal Justice working within HMP Perth.

Roddy Ross, Vice Chair

Roddy is employed with Perth & Kinross Council as Team Leader, Safer Communities and has in his remit responsibility for the Unpaid Work Team, Community Wardens and Anti-Social Behaviour Investigators.

What violence against women looks like in Perth & Kinross

Domestic Abuse - There were 1171 domestic abuse incidents reported to and attended by police. 48% were subsequently recorded as crimes.

Perthshire Women's Aid Women's Service supported 307 women with 47 of these women getting specialised counselling support from a dedicated service supported financially by Choose Life.

Women who come to PWA present with multiple and complex issues influencing their choices, self-esteem, confidence, functioning, expectations, mental health, physical health and general well-being.

56 women received specialist advice on debt and benefits through a partnership project with Citizen's Advice Perth, Making Advice Work for You.

"Before I was a train wreck, shut down a lot. I think I would know the signs to look for now, if a guy was to do that to me again, I would be able to deal with it better. I am a lot, lot stronger now. I can walk away now whereas before I could not".

Barnardos

Tayside Domestic Abuse Service is an outreach service of Barnardo's Family Services. The main focus of its work is the early identification of domestic abuse, its impact and risk of harm and to develop safety plans and promote autonomy for service users and their families whether they remain in the relationship or not.

TDAS have worked with 74 cases in Perth & Kinross from 1st July 2016 – 30th June 2017.

Victim Support Scotland dealt with 379 domestic abuse referrals from Police Scotland in 2016/17. Of these 311 were female, 57 male (15%) and 11 victims were under 16 years of age.

Location of Domestic Abuse

Sexual Offences

There were 65 reports of rape to Police Scotland in 2016/17 and 192 reports of sexual crime in Perth & Kinross.

RASAC P&K provide support, information and advocacy services to individuals and families affected by any form of sexual violence. The organisation works with all young people age 12 - 18 and anyone who identifies as a woman 19+.

Across the last year 125 referrals were made to the organisation for support and advocacy services. A total of 196 service users received a service.

The nature of abuse reported to RASAC P&K is as shown:

RASAC Youth Ambassadors

4 Youth Ambassadors have put the number of hours volunteered towards a Duke of Edinburgh Award. 10 Youth Ambassadors have received Saltire awards for a total of 761 hours voluntary work.

The RASAC Youth Ambassador programme has informed young people and boosted their confidence to have their voice heard in the shaping of services.

Perpetrators of abuse reported to RASAC were identified as:

Children and young people

RASAC P&K Young People and Families Service has completed it's first year from April 2016 to March 2017.

- 85 young people worked with, 87% female and 9% male.
- Over a third have actively tried to end their lives (35%)
- These young people had 143 experiences of sexual violence.
- 8% of these young people have experienced pregnancy as a result of their abuse
- Almost two thirds of young survivors have had suicidal thoughts (61%)

Young people have accessed one to one and group support across the year. Below is a poem kindly shared by friendlyfire99.

Step forward
And share your story
No matter how old
No matter how gory

At your pace
There is no hurry
I understand that bits and pieces
Might be a bit blurry

Take a deep breath
Count to ten
We all need some help
Every now and then

No judgement here
You will always be believed
And we will always remind you
All you have achieved

Remember this was not your fault
Never think otherwise
No one asks for this to happen
I need to emphasise

Thank you for being so brave
You've taken a huge step already
Your time to speak now
Whenever you're ready

SEXUAL VIOLENCE MYTH SAFE AT HOME

Your home is the most likely place that you will be sexually abused, raped, or sexually assaulted.

Although it does happen in 'dark alleyways', our statistics tell us that 37% of sexual violence happens in the survivor's home, 21% in the perpetrator's home and only 7% of sexual violence happens outside (not within a building or vehicle).

RASAC Youth Ambassadors

The Youth Ambassador project is a peer mentoring and campaigning initiative for young people to support one another and to raise awareness of sexual violence. The development of the programme has provided opportunities for young people to develop skills in peer mentoring and communication, presentation, team working and facilitation. Most of the YA's have been involved in co-delivery with young carers groups and youth groups. 10 young people were trained as ambassadors across the year. RASAC now has 20 Youth Ambassadors (male and female) pro-actively engaging in the delivery of prevention services.

5 existing YA's have been trained as 'buddies' to support the development of the new recruits into the programme. The Peer Mentor Buddies have taken an active role in supporting the learning and development of the newer young people within the Youth Ambassador programme by working with them in small groups on particular tasks, such as providing comments to our Training and Impact worker on various matters from website development to planning campaigns for the 16 Days of Action.

Children experiencing domestic abuse recovery

Cedar Perthshire is led by Perthshire Women's Aid and is now in its fifth year. It continues to provide child-centred support to families recovering from domestic abuse across Perthshire. The project delivers a therapeutic parallel group work programme enabling mothers to support their children through this healing process. This joint approach is fundamental with children and their mothers learning and moving forward together but supported in separate groups. Cedar helps to build and strengthen mother-child relationships as part of domestic abuse recovery. This year Cedar has supported 90 women and children.

The group work programme uses a variety of creative tools to work with mothers and their children, aged 5-16 years over 12 weeks, building resilience, improving communication, emotional intelligence, confidence and self-esteem. The ethos of Cedar is empowerment and the Cedar Co-ordinators work closely with families to gain trust and allow families to make choices about their future. Cedar also provides domestic abuse training.

Perthshire Women's Aid Children and Young People's Service

This service supports 173 children; males and females with experience of domestic abuse stemming from their parent's abusive relationship and young people experiencing domestic abuse within their own intimate relationships. The service provides one to one support, group work, family support and represents children's views.

"Women's Aid has helped me to feel happy by talking to someone and getting it off my back".

"PWA helps me grow and move on from hard times and learn from mistakes".

Staff are very thorough and perceptive in their work with children and work very well within a multi-disciplinary team".

"The worker is kind and gentle with the child and discrete and confidential".

"The worker has been integral to the child protection process".

Partnership Activities

16 Days of Activism against Gender Violence - Between the Friday 25 November and Friday 10 December 2016 the Perth & Kinross Violence Against Women Partnership coordinated a series of events in the area as part of the World Health Organisation's 16 Days of Activism Against Gender Violence.

Reducing Inequality, Preventing Abuse Conference

Perth Concert Hall
Friday 25 November 2016

The conference was opened by John Swinney MSP, Deputy First Minister, who welcomed delegates to the event and spoke of the importance the Scottish Government places on the issue of violence against women. He emphasised the need to work in partnership and welcomed the fact that the conference marked the start of a number of activities across Perth & Kinross marking the World Health Organisation's "16 Days of Activism on Gender Based Violence".

Roddy Ross the conference chairman, reiterated John Swinney's welcome and told delegates that they would be challenged and stimulated by excellent speakers and would leave the day with a renewed commitment to improving the lives of women and children affected by violence in Perth & Kinross.

Mairead Tagg spoke on the subject of "Coercive Control in Relationships". Coercive control is primarily a male crime with the threat and fear of violence and abuse of power the active ingredients. Patterns of controlling behaviour take many forms, are often subtle and can be difficult to prove in court. There is a need to distinguish between situational couple violence – hitting back but not controlling – and ongoing controlling behaviour. All professionals working with domestic abuse need to carry out comprehensive risk assessments and to identify and make the perpetrator visible.

John Carnochan considered Violent Offending – Inevitable or Preventable. A public health approach is needed in tackling and preventing violent behaviour - identify the cause and find a cure – rather than a criminal justice one – treat the symptom by finding and working with the offender not simply punishing him.

Nazir Afsal discussed Protecting the Vulnerable and gave some personal insight into his prosecution of child sexual exploitation cases. Vulnerability doesn't stop – there continues to be a need to be agile enough to respond to victims changing needs.

Tasmina Ahmed Sheikh – gave a Political Perspective to preventing abuse. There should never be an acceptance of abusive behaviour and a clear understanding of "what's not OK".

Reclaim the Night Public March Demonstration

Perth City Centre
8 December 2016

About 150 women, men and children took part in Perth's first Reclaim the Night march through the city centre. Reclaim the night is an international phenomenon with events in over 30 countries, going back some 40 years, Perth is now part of that movement.

Led by female pipes and drums the march set off from the OWLS Centre in West Mill Street and marched down the High Street to the newly refurbished Council Buildings where marchers were greeted by the Provost, Councillor Elizabeth Grant and a very welcome cup of coffee.

Short speeches by the Provost and Rachel Coleman, Rape & Sexual Assault Centre, Perth & Kinross (RASAC) both stressed the importance of making a very public statement asserting the right for women to be safe and feel safe in our community and to protest at all forms of violence against women and children.

This will become an annual event in Perth and plans are already underway make an even bigger impact in 2017.

Film Night - Private Violence

Birks Cinema, Aberfeldy
30 November 2016

As part of the programme to mark 16 Days of Activism Against Gender Based Violence the Partnership, in conjunction with the Violence Reduction Unit and the Birks Cinema, Aberfeldy, hosted a showing of the award winning film, Private Violence, to a small but committed audience.

After the showing there was an opportunity for the audience to reflect on what they had seen, to discuss their own personal experiences of domestic violence and rape and to re-affirm their commitment to make a difference.

Private Violence is a feature-length documentary film and audience engagement campaign that explores a simple, but deeply disturbing fact of American life: the most dangerous place for a woman in America is her own home.

Other Partnership Activities

MARAC

The Perth and Kinross Multi-Agency Risk Assessment Conference (MARAC) comprising representatives from local police, Criminal Justice Social Work, Health, Independent Domestic Abuse Advisors (IDAAs) and other specialists from the statutory and voluntary sector, meets on a monthly basis to share information and discuss the safety needs of the highest risk victims of domestic violence and their families. A Safety Plan for each victim is developed at the meeting and each agency accepts responsibility for agreed actions.

Over the past 12 months 62 cases have been discussed by the Perth MARAC. Only 3 of these were repeat cases, suggesting that the plans put in place have been operating effectively and keeping women safe. There were 76 children present in the households discussed confirming that the effects of domestic abuse on children remains a major concern.

MATAC

Working in conjunction with the MARAC, Multi-Agency Tasking and Co-ordinating meetings (MATACs) focus attention on the highest risk perpetrators with a view to prevent them committing further incidents of domestic abuse. Actions against offenders would include focused investigations, bail compliance and other enforcement activities and at a local level police activity is centred on specialist officers in the Domestic Abuse Investigation Team. The Domestic Abuse Task Force operates on a national level and targets the most serious offenders and those who are serial offenders.

National Activities

The Partnership is an active member of the national Violence Against Women Network. The VAW Network aims to improve the capacity and capability of VAW Partnerships to implement Scotland's strategy for preventing & eradicating violence against women and girls at a local level & to support Partnerships to engage effectively with community planning processes.

PKWAWP has been involved in piloting a performance management framework which will measure the success of the activities undertaken by violence against women partnerships across Scotland in support of the Scottish Governments "Equally Safe" strategy.

Perthshire Domestic Abuse Outreach Project

The project, run by Perthshire Womens Aid, provides information, emotional and practical support, advocacy, housing support and follow on assistance to women and children in rural Perthshire who are or have experienced domestic abuse. Access to outreach staff within their own area reduces isolation and provides links to vital services and women are empowered to make positive choices by building their self confidence and resilience. Staff support them to remain safely in their home or when it is not safe to do so, to access suitable, alternative accommodation elsewhere.

This year 244 women engaged with the project showing an 11% increase from the previous year. There was an increase in younger women seeking support and a growth in the number of Polish women, who can now be helped with the addition of a bi-lingual worker to the outreach team.

Recounting Women Project

Perthshire Women's Aid held an open day as part of 16 days of action which was an opportunity for people to hear personal experiences of the impact of domestic abuse and about the hard hitting "Recounting Women Project" (www.recountingwomen.co.uk), followed by a question and answer session.

Safe Accommodation Strategy

The provision of safe accommodation for women fleeing domestic violence continues to be a priority for the Partnership and necessitates a close working relationship between those providing practical and emotional support to women and children, mostly Perthshire Womens Aid, and Perth & Kinross Council Housing Department. Proposed changes to housing benefits have the potential to reduce refuge provision across the UK and have increased the challenge to ensure that all women and children experiencing domestic and other threats and abuse are able to access refuges at the point of need.

Individual needs vary enormously, from short term emergency help for a single woman to permanent accommodation for a mother and her family. The Home First Strategy developed by Perth & Kinross Council is designed to be flexible enough to take account of these complex needs and involves the whole range of accommodation types and providers – local authority, private landlords, registered social landlords etc.

60 women and children were accommodated in Women's Aid Refuges with women and families being accommodated in permanent housing without the need for interim emergency housing. Under Home First, PWA saw a decrease of 15% in refuge requests which resulted in 2 refuges being returned to council stock in early 2017. Partners are working together to source specialised long term housing for all women in need of emergency accommodation.

Independent Domestic Abuse Advocacy

Perth and Kinross Independent Domestic Abuse Advocacy, provided by Perthshire Women's Aid, secures the safety of women and children who have been victims of domestic abuse and are at high-risk of harm from intimate partners or ex-partners. The advocate works in close collaboration with police in the Domestic Abuse Unit which has enabled a more effective and preventative approach to be taken. Advocates engage with adult victims from point of crisis, liaise with multiple services to keep women and their children safe, initially by putting in safety measures and ensuring safe accommodation. Making contact with women as close to the point of incident as possible is key to successful outcomes. The primary goal of the service is early intervention and to prevent repeat victimisation.

The Advocacy Service has seen a 44% increase in the number of women supported with a 54% increase in Perth cases. There was a substantial increase in referrals in the 25-34 age category, with a 71% increase in referrals from 25-29 age range. It also recorded a substantial 75% rise in support required for those over 50. There has been a significant 50% reduction in repeat victimisation.

Working with Offenders

The Positive Relationships Group is an 8-week group work programme developed by Criminal Justice Social Work, Public Protection Team. The programme focuses on the factors contributing to a positive relationship and, whilst necessarily looking at factors contributing to a negative relationship, does not focus on individual offences. Three groups were run in 2016/17 with 24 men taking part, 23 of whom completed the course.

Whats planned for 2017/18

MARAC Review

The Multi Agency Risk Assessment Conference has been running in Perth & Kinross since 2012 and a review of its remit, practice and procedures is now appropriate. The review will focus on

- an independent assessment of case conferences
 - a survey of MARAC members seeking views on effectiveness and areas for improvement
 - an internal review of the Operating Protocol and associated Information Sharing Protocol
 - benchmark against neighboring MARAC's and incorporate good practice
- Any recommendations in the resulting report will form the basis of an improvement plan in 2017/18.

Claire's Law

The Domestic Violence Disclosure Scheme or Disclosure Scheme for Domestic Abuse Scotland (DSDAS), otherwise known as Clare's Law, was rolled out across Scotland on 1 October 2015 following successful pilot schemes in Aberdeen and Ayrshire. In the past, it was difficult for anyone entering a new relationship to find out if their partner had prior. Convictions for violence or domestic abuse but the scheme now allows for this information to be made available. Disclosures can also be triggered by friends, relatives, social workers or police officers. If checks show that someone does have a record of abusive behaviour, the police will consider sharing the information with the people "best placed" to protect potential victims. Requests are made via a form on the Police Scotland website.

The number of individuals taking advantage of this important scheme has been relatively low so far and the Partnership will make it a priority to increase public awareness of the information which can be made available to them available during 2017/18.

16 Days of Activism

Following the success of the programme in 2016 the Partnership will organize and support a series of activities in 2017. These will include

- a major seminar for front line staff across Perth & Kinross
- a Reclaim the Night march in Perth city centre
- a seminar with young people to discuss consent within relationships
- an exhibition celebrating 10 years of RASAC in Perth & Kinross.

What the partners do

Perthshire Womens Aid

Provide confidential support, information and access to temporary accommodation. Support is provided either face to face at our premises, over the phone, or by arranging a confidential visit at a place of your choice. Support can be accessed on a self-referral basis or via referral from an agency.

Services offered include

- Women's Support Service – including Refuge accommodation
- Children & Young People's Support Services
- Domestic Abuse Advocacy Service
- Cedar Project – <http://www.cedarnetwork.org.uk/>
- Freedom Programme – <http://www.freedomprogramme.co.uk/>
- Counselling service
- Making advice work for you

Barnardos

Barnardo's Domestic Abuse Service, in partnership with Citizens Advice, support women and children following an incident of domestic abuse who are deemed to be at high-risk of further harm. The team are co-located with Police Scotland and work directly with clients and their children on a short to medium time basis. They offer advice guidance and support which includes safety planning with the adult, young people and children. This also includes putting together a package of support involving statutory agencies and voluntary organisations. One-to-one sessions with children and their families are also undertaken to help them move on or to effect positive change.

RASAC

RASAC (P&K) offers free and confidential support, information and advocacy services to anyone who identifies as a woman age 12+ and boys 12-18 years who has experienced sexual violence at any time in their lives. If this has happened to you in any way, at any time then you can contact our centre. An Advocacy service is available for anyone considering reporting, or who is already involved in the Justice process. Family support sessions are available as well as individual support to workers, supportive friends, family members and partners. A resource library is also accessible for workers and supporters of survivors.

RASAC Youth Initiative works with young people age 12-18 across Perth & Kinross delivering a series of prevention workshops which address a range of issues including Gender Inequality, Childhood Sexual Abuse, Consent, Internet Safety and Sexualisation. Training is also available to workers.

Victim Support Scotland

Victim Support provides victims with free and confidential emotional and practical assistance and information about the criminal justice system. Trained volunteers and staff deliver this assistance throughout Scotland. If you are attending court as a witness to a crime, volunteers from Victim Support Scotland's witness service will be available to help you on the day. They can also offer the opportunity to visit the court in advance of the trial date and view a court when it's not being used.

Police Scotland

Police Scotland is a national service and is committed to "keeping people safe". It provides an immediate investigative response to ongoing incidents of abuse and sexual crime and to reports of an historical nature. Specially trained officers from the Domestic Abuse Investigation Unit work within the Public Protection Unit alongside the support workers from Barnardo's. They also provide advice and assistance to uniform colleagues when dealing with domestic abuse, risk assessment of incidents, an investigative response into serious crimes (current or historical) and advice and assistance to victims.

NHS Tayside

Community Health and Wellbeing Team

This is a health led team which provides Health and Wellbeing services to those identified as being most vulnerable and suffering from Health Inequalities across Perth and Kinross. The service is primarily based at Drumhar Health Centre, Perth but covers the whole of Perth and Kinross and has an open referral system in place. The service is part of the Health and Social Care Partnership

Health and Social Care Partnership

The Health and Social Care Partnership commenced formally in April 2016 and consists of Health and Social Care services and working collaboratively with 3rd sector services, local communities and other statutory bodies to provide seamless care and support to local citizens across Perth and Kinross.

Young People's Health Team

Young people from Perth and Kinross aged 12-25 years old can access broad-based advice, information and one-to-one support on any health issue. Young people can self-refer or access our drop-in service.

PACT (Perth Action of Churches Together)

An ecumenical body with representatives from over 20 churches and Christian communities from Perth and the surrounding area. We believe that, as representatives of the various Christian denominations in Perth, what unites us is more important than what divides us, and we rejoice in the shared witness we can make to our local community.

PKAVS

Perth & Kinross Association of Voluntary Service is a dynamic local charity with a Big Heart – from carers young and old, to adults recovering from mental ill-health, minority communities, volunteers, and voluntary groups – they work tirelessly throughout Perth and Kinross to improve wellbeing, connect communities, and help people to realise their potential.

Soroptimists International

A global volunteer movement working together to transform the lives of women and girls. The Soroptimists vision is that women and girls will achieve their individual and collective potential, realise aspirations and have an equal voice in creating strong, peaceful communities worldwide.

As well as seeking equality by educating, empowering and enabling women & girls, Soroptimist International (SI) Great Britain & Ireland is passionate about stopping violence against women, in all its forms. SI Perth addresses this locally, nationally & internationally by: fundraising, lobbying, awareness raising, taking part in public events and much more.

Perth & Kinross Council Homeless Service

Available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. The Advice Team offer free and confidential advice, support and assistance in relation to housing or homelessness anyone at risk of violence or abuse. The applicant's self-assessment of violence/threat of violence will be accepted and no further questions need to be asked other than the source of violence or threat and the place of violence or threat, to ensure the housing offered is in a safe place.

Community Safety

Cover all aspects of community safety – Safer Community Wardens, anti-social behaviour investigation, offender management. This team ensures vulnerable people are supported in the community and referred to specialist agencies when required.

Education

Schools, further and adult education services

Adult Protection

The Access Team can be contacted to provide support and guidance and access to a range of services for adults over the age of 16, who may be at risk, where a woman has particular vulnerabilities and additional needs and or have a community care need.

Social Work Department

Children & Families Service Child Protection Duty Team should be contacted if there are any concerns for the welfare of children or young persons affected by domestic abuse or sexual violence. All aspects of working with and managing offenders in the community.

"The Service saved my life, I can't believe that I stayed for all that time and didn't see him for what he was."

"Now that I've been working with you I'm recognising his behaviours and the way he treats me is wrong. I don't know where I would be without you."

"I knew the way he was speaking to me wasn't right I'm so glad I've worked with you and you reassured me it wasn't right."

In 2016/17 across Perth & Kinross

- 90 children have been supported to manage the consequences of domestic abuse through their involvement in the Cedar project
